Jim's background is in design and engineering and he has been working in the lighting industry for almost 30 years.

Over the past 17 years, he has worked in a technical/sales role, supporting a wide range of clients throughout the country, from Edinburgh to London, and also delivering large scale overseas projects.

Jim is a big motorbike enthusiast and, in his spare time, Jim really enjoys travelling and camping, which comes in handy in his role as the leader of a local Scouts group, something he finds hugely rewarding.
